Pedagogical Methods

The teaching methods are adapted according to the skills and knowledge targeted by the course. In particular, lectures (CM), tutorials (TD) and/or role-playing are used.

Assessment methods

Depending on the objectives of the course, the assessment of knowledge and skills may involve different evaluation methods such as final assessment, continuous assessment, or a combination of final and continuous assessment. These assessments can take various forms (written and/or oral, group work, reports/theses, etc.). These modalities are indicated to the students within the regulatory deadlines.

The rules applicable to the control of knowledge and skills for the University of Caen Normandy are available in the study regulations.

Arrangements

Students in special situations can benefit from accommodations in the organization and progress of their studies: Contact our referents.
